Crane Paper

For over 200 years, Crane has set the standard for American papermaking. Their fine papers communicate craftsmanship and elegance, and are perfect for tactile printing processes including letterpress, engraving, embossing and foil stamping as well as offset and digital. Their Lettra papers are especially suited for these techniques.

The design celebrates the craft of engraving. It draws inspiration from the Art Nouveau movement, a push against mechanisation during the time of Crane's glory days.

The rebrand aims to guide the world of Crane for today and tomorrow. The ethos celebrates the importance NR 305 Week 6, care and thoughtfulness – things that can be embodied in paper. This is echoed in the choice of a contemporary color scheme that honors the past, while remaining grounded in this time and place. The classic crane blue gets a slight update, dialling up the vibrancy to match the quality of the paper. This gives the stationery a sense of urgency.
